

Cindy Schwartz, Daily Money Manager

Born in St. Louis and a Midwesterner at heart, Cindy has lived in the Washington area for over 25 years. Living away from her family, Cindy was not able to care for her aging parents during their last years. This frustration led her to explore the world of volunteering and in 2006 she became a certified Hospice Volunteer.

Cindy has the gift of helping people navigate those difficult periods in life. In addition, she has a zeal for organizing and often time helps out her friends put their lives in order. She has always been the “friend” who volunteers to help out with her own friends’ aging parents.

Cindy graduated from the University of Michigan and moved to the Washington D.C. area in 1981. She has been working in the television industry for over 25 years.

Cindy joined Everyday Money Management in 2011.
